

FUNDRAISING WITH FRIENDS

As far as we're concerned, three's not a crowd - it's the start of a party.

In fact, when it comes to fundraising with friends, get as many involved as you can:

10, 50, 100 - the sky's the limit!

No matter the size and ambitions of the group, we've got lots of suggestions for you.

Top tip

People love it when you do something slightly out of character.

A bit of a couch potato? Why not train for a 10k run together? Scared of heights? You could do a skydive with your mates. Bit of a fashionista? Come into work for a week in outfits picked by your friends.

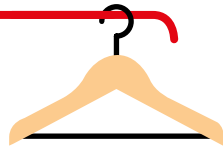

Or maybe there's something you all love doing together. Maybe you're all mad about board games. In which case, have a 24-hour board game-athon.

HOW

ACTION FOR CHILDREN

WORKS

Here's a few ideas to get your fundraising underway...

Get Swap'n'Shopping!

Download our My Swap'n'Shop pack – actionforchildren.org.uk/myswapnshop – and we'll send you everything you need to set up your own bric-a-brac sale in your community. You and your friends can clear out your cupboards and wardrobes together, and hold one big sale in aid of Action for Children.

Let's Get Quizzical

Who doesn't love a quiz? There are plenty of websites offering free quiz rounds you can use. Teams pay to take part, and for refreshments, and you can also hold a raffle on the night, to bring in those £££'s!

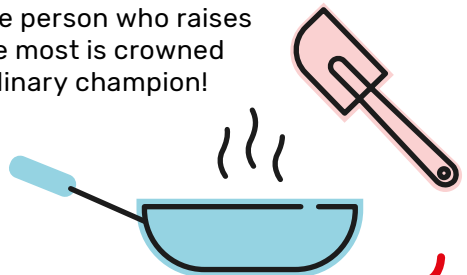

"Climb Every Mountain"

Well, three of the biggest in the UK! Take on the 'three peaks challenge', with your friends, and conquer Scafell Pike, Snowdon and Ben Nevis in 24 hours – spurring each other on.

Be My Guest

Put your culinary skills to the test with charity dinner parties! Each contestant takes turns to cook dinner for the rest, and guests donate what they think the meal would be worth in a restaurant.

The person who raises the most is crowned culinary champion!
